

Analah Wallace Bio:

Analah Wallace is an undergrad student at Sacramento State University who's pursuing a bachelors in Film Studies alongside a minor in Journalism. They have worked in the journalism field for three years now and have covered topics such as politics, local events, finances, various cultures, and social movements. They are currently the Diversity, Equity and Inclusion editor for The State Hornet news publication and hope to become a respectable journalist in the future.